Child Protective Services

Strengthening Georgia by protecting its most vulnerable children from the risk of abuse and neglect.

Reporting

DFCS receives reports of abuse and neglect through a centralized line (1-855-GACHILD) that operates 24 hours per day, seven days per week.

Increased Community Awareness & Impact on DFCS Caseloads

Cince the implementation of a centralized reporting system for child welfare concerns in April igodol 2014, reports of abuse and neglect have risen tremendously in Georgia. To help manage an increased demand for DFCS services, Gov. Nathan Deal has committed funding to reduce case managers' caseloads to 15 per worker - a nationwide best practice - by 2017.

Helping Parents Support their Children

FATHERHOOD PROGRAM

Through the Fatherhood Program, the Department works with parents who are unemployed or underemployed and are, as a result, unable to pay their full child support obligations. The program connects parents with resources leading to jobs that pay above minimum wage, greater selfsufficiency and more emotional, parental and financial involvement in the lives of their children. Georgia has the only statewide program in the country.

PARENTAL ACCOUNTABILITY COURT

The Parental Accountability Court (PAC) program is a joint effort of the Department and Superior Court Judges to offer an alternative to incarceration and to help chronic non-payers of child support make regular payments. The program utilizes community resources to address barriers that keep parents from meeting their support obligations. Each program, including the services provided to participants, is tailored to the needs of the local community. Superior Court Judges provide judicial oversight and collaborate with PAC coordinators to implement the program. To graduate, participants must meet their child support obligations for a minimum of six consecutive months.

Review & Modification of Child Support Orders

Individuals with child support cases may request a review and modification of their child support order every three years. However, a review may be granted sooner if the requesting party has a substantial change in circumstances. Situations that may qualify for a more frequent review include but are not limited to:

- Diagnosis of a serious illness or an accident that impacts either party's ability to work and the resulting condition is expected to last for more than a year
- Either party begins receiving Temporary Assistance for Needy Families benefits since the last order
- Parent suffers a 25 percent or greater involuntary loss of income
- Parent receives an unanticipated windfall of money (i.e. lottery, inheritance, etc.)
- Documented proof that custody of a child has changed from the custodian

Available Summer 2016: A new mobile application that will allow parents to make online payments and receive alerts about changes in their case status. The app will be available on Apple and Android devices.

GEORGIA DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES Division of Aging Services Adult Protective Services

dult Protective Services (APS) investigates allegations of abuse, neglect, or exploitation and seeks to prevent the recurrence of abuse, neglect or exploitation of adults through the provision of protective service interventions. When assessing the need for interventions, investigators consider an adult's right to personal autonomy and self-determination while using the least restrictive method of providing safety.

Forensic Special Initiatives Unit

he Forensic Special Initiatives Unit (FSIU) educates law enforcement, first responders, members of the legal community and others about ways to identify and respond to abuse, neglect and exploitation of at-risk adults. The FSIU also works with state agencies to coordinate the emergency relocation of abused and neglected adults.

Unlicensed Personal Care Homes

When older adults and adults with disabilities face abuse, neglect, or exploitation — particularly in unlicensed personal care homes — responders may need to move them quickly to a safe, accessible location.

The Department works with legislators, agencies, and other experts to develop coordinated response procedures and identify emergency resources for vulnerable adults. In SFY2015, APS relocated 92 individuals.

Financial Exploitation Training

The Department and its partners trained 140 bank personnel and law enforcement officials on how to prevent, recognize and prosecute financial exploitation of vulnerable adults.

The app provides information on laws, makes it easier to report a missing adult and provides guidance on evaluating whether an adult may have been abused, neglected or exploited. The app also helps law enforcement and social services agencies access resources in the event an adult has to be relocated in an emergency.

Benefits Recovery Unit

The Benefits Recovery Unit (BRU) of the Office of Inspector General investigates suspected intentional program violations in the SNAP (traditionally known as food stamps), TANF and Child Care programs. The unit also investigates retailer trafficking of SNAP EBT cards.

Penalties for Program Violations

Benefit recipients who are found guilty of an Intentional Program Violation (IPV) are suspended then permanently disgualified from the program on a three-strikes-you're-out policy.

EBT TRAFFICKING

The BRU works with the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Food and Nutrition Service to investigate EBT trafficking at retail locations. The USDA retains exclusive authority for investigating retailer fraud, while the State is responsible for investigating recipient fraud. Once an authorized SNAP retailer has been identified for engaging in EBT trafficking, the State reviews all transactions to identify specific benefit recipients who engaged in EBT trafficking with the retailer. Once those recipients are identified, the State initiates an adjudication process to hold recipients accountable for violating the program.

Georgia is recognized nationally for its aggressiveness in seeking out and establishing fraud claims in the Food Stamp program.

Rule Waivers

RCCL recognizes that each facility is unique in its services to children, and that certain rules may create a hardship for an agency providing for children with specialized needs. For that reason, facilities may request a waiver or a variance to a rule that impedes the ability to adequately serve a child. There is a mandated 15-day wait for waiver requests, and requests are typically processed in 30 days.

Calendar Year 2015:

44 waivers requested 33 Approved 10 Denied 1 Pendina

Refuting Citations

When a facility is found to be in violation of RCCL rules, the result can be a citation or an adverse action. Adverse actions may involve a financial penalty, and can be appealed through an administrative court hearing. Citations that do not rise to the level of an adverse action have no financial penalty and cannot be appealed through administrative courts. However, to ensure each evaluation is fair, Georgia is one of the only states to allow facilities the opportunity to refute citations. Refutation requests must be made within 15 days of the notification of a citation and are typically processed within 35 days.
